Introduction

Bullying is action taken by one or more children with the deliberate intention of hurting another child, either physically or emotionally. This can also include child on child abuse which can be seen as a form of bullying. All incidents of child on child abuse will be treated using the procedures contained in the Ludlow Primary School safeguarding policy.

Aims and objectives

Bullying is wrong and damages individual children. We therefore do all we can to prevent it, by developing a school ethos in which bullying is regarded as unacceptable.

We aim, as a school, to produce a safe and secure environment where all can learn without anxiety.

This policy aims to produce a consistent school response to any bullying incidents that may occur.

We aim to make all those connected with the school aware of our opposition to bullying, and we make clear each person's responsibilities with regard to the eradication of bullying in our school.

The role of governance

The school does not have a 'traditional' governing body but instead has a Strategic Task Group (led by the DHMAT) who support the headteacher in all attempts to eliminate bullying from our school. This policy statement makes it very clear that neither the DHMAT or the school, allows bullying to take place, and that any incidents of bullying that do occur are taken very seriously and dealt with appropriately.

The STG monitors the incidents of bullying that occur and reviews the effectiveness of the school policy regularly. The STG require the headteacher to keep accurate records of all incidents of bullying and to report to the STG on request about the effectiveness of school anti-bullying strategies.

The DHMAT responds within ten days to any request from a parent to investigate incidents of bullying. In all cases, the trust notifies the headteacher and asks her to conduct an investigation into the case and to report back to a representative of the trust.

The role of the Headteacher

It is the responsibility of the headteacher to implement the school anti-bullying strategy in conjunction with the Positive behaviour strategy and to ensure that all staff (both teaching and non-teaching) are aware of the school policy and know how to deal with incidents of bullying. The Headteacher reports to the STG about the effectiveness of the anti-bullying policy and Positive behaviour strategy on request.

The Headteacher ensures that all children know that bullying is wrong, and that it is unacceptable behaviour in this school. The headteacher draws the attention of children to this fact at suitable moments. For example, if an incident occurs, the headteacher may decide to use assembly as a forum in which to discuss with other children why this behaviour was wrong, and why a pupil is being punished.

The Headteacher ensures that all staff receive sufficient and appropriate training to be equipped to deal with all incidents of bullying.

The Headteacher sets the school climate of mutual support and praise for success, so making bullying less likely. When children feel they are important and belong to a friendly and welcoming school, bullying is far less likely to be part of their behaviour.

The role of the teacher

Teachers in our school take all forms of bullying seriously, and intervene to prevent incidents from taking place. They keep their own records of all incidents that happen in their class and that they are aware of in the school.

If teachers witness an act of bullying, they do all they can to support the child who is being bullied and follow the Positive behaviour strategy. If a child is being bullied over a period of time, then, after consultation with the headteacher, the teacher informs the child's parents.

We record all incidents of bullying that occur outside lesson time, either near the school or on the children's way home or to school. If any adult witnesses an act of bullying, they should record the event.

If, as teachers, we become aware of any bullying taking place between members of a class, we deal with the issue immediately. This may involve counselling and support for the victim of the bullying, and punishment for the child who has carried out the bullying following the Positive behaviour strategy. We spend time talking to the child who has bullied: we explain why the action of the child was wrong, and we endeavour to help the child change their behaviour in future. If a child is repeatedly involved in bullying other children, we inform the headteacher and the special needs co-ordinator. We then invite the child's parents into the school to discuss the situation. In more extreme cases, for example where these initial discussions have proven ineffective, the headteacher may contact external support agencies such as the behaviour support services.

Teachers attend training, which enables them to become equipped to deal with incidents of bullying and behaviour management.

Teachers attempt to support all children in their class and to establish a climate of trust and respect for all. By praising, rewarding and celebrating the success of all children, we aim to prevent incidents of bullying.

The role of the curriculum

Pupils will have the opportunities to develop their understanding of the nature of bullying, to explore their own and others' attitudes to bullying and to develop the skills to deal with bullying through PSHE and other subject areas, through assemblies and other school activities.

The role of parents

Parents who are concerned that their child might be being bullied, or who suspect that their child may be the perpetrator of bullying, should contact their child's class teacher immediately.

Parents have a responsibility to support the school's anti-bullying policy and positive behaviour strategy and to actively encourage their child to be a positive member of the school.

Monitoring and review

This policy is monitored on a day-to-day basis by the headteacher, who reports to the DHMAT/STG about the effectiveness of the policy on request.

This anti-bullying policy is the DHMAT's responsibility and they review its effectiveness annually. They do this by examining the school's anti-bullying record, and through discussion with the headteacher.
